Presentations and Contributions

13:03	Putting teachers at the heart of education policy development Many policy makers and educators are eager to understand the conditions under which their teachers work and the barriers to teachers' quest to educate the next generation of active citizens. Andreas Schleicher will present the key findings from the 2013 OECD Teaching and Learning International Survey (TALIS), provide insights on what teaching and learning environments can attribute to a high-quality teaching profession, and implicate education policy development in order to lead to better student outcomes.	Andreas Schleicher , Director for Education and Skills, The Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD)

13:13	Introduction to second speaker, Michael Fullan	Gavin Dykes , Debate Moderator and Independent Education Consultant, Cellcove
-------	-------------------------------------------------------	---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------

13:14	What can TALIS tell us about teacher quality? There is worldwide interest in how to improve teacher quality. Many policy makers seem to choose the 'wrong drivers' based on 'carrot and stick' approaches rather than tapping into intrinsic motivation and collaborative group work. This keynote will examine the TALIS data to see what lessons it offers about developing teacher quality.	Michael Fullan , Worldwide authority on education reform, Independent Expert

Presenter Biographies and Quick Facts

Vicki Phillips

Opening the Debate: Vicki Phillips is the Foundation's Director of Education, College Ready. She oversees work to improve access to college and ensure US high school students graduate ready to succeed. Ms Phillips has built a strong education reform record throughout her career, as a teacher, state-level policymaker, leader of a nonprofit education foundation and superintendent of a large urban school district. Before joining the foundation she was superintendent of Portland Public Schools in Portland, Oregon, and was Pennsylvania Governor Ed Rendell's appointed secretary of education and that state's chief state school officer. She previously served at the state level in her home state of Kentucky, helping to implement the Kentucky Education Reform Act of 1990. Phillips has worked with the U.S. Office of Education in Washington, D.C., and has been a middle and high school teacher.

Guest Presenter: Andreas Schleicher is Director for Education and Skills at The Organisation of Economic Cooperation and Development. He also provides strategic oversight over OECD's work on the development and utilisation of skills and their social and economic outcomes. This includes the Programme for International Student Assessment (PISA), the OECD Survey of Adult Skills (PIAAC), the OECD Teaching and Learning International Survey (TALIS) and the development and analysis of benchmarks on the performance of education systems (INES). Before joining the OECD, he was Director for Analysis at the International Association for Educational Achievement (IEA). He studied Physics in Germany and received a degree in Mathematics and Statistics in Australia. He is the recipient of numerous honours and awards, including the "Theodor Heuss" prize, awarded in the name of the first president of the Federal Republic of Germany for "exemplary democratic engagement". He holds an honorary Professorship at the University of Heidelberg.

Michael Fullan

Guest Presenter: Michael Fullan, OC is the former Dean of the Ontario Institute for Studies in Education at the University of Toronto. Recognized as a worldwide authority on educational reform, he advises policymakers and local leaders around the world in helping to achieve the moral purpose of all children learning. From 2004-2013 Michael Fullan served as Special Adviser in Education to the Premier of Ontario. He received the Order of Canada in December 2012 and holds honorary doctorates from Duquesne University, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania; University of Edinburgh, Scotland; Newman University College, University of Leicester; and Nipissing University in Canada. Fullan is a prolific, award-winning author whose books have been published in many languages. His book Leading in a Culture of Change was awarded the 2002 Book of the Year Award by Learning Forward (formerly the National Staff Development Council), Breakthrough (with Peter Hill and Carmel Crévoila) won the 2006 Book of the Year Award from the American Association of Colleges for Teacher Education, Turnaround Leadership in Higher Education (with Geoff Scott) won the Bellwether Book Award in 2009, and Change Wars (with Andy Hargreaves) was awarded the 2009 Book of the Year Award by Learning Forward. His latest books are The Principal: Maximizing Impact (in press), Motion Leadership in Action (2013), Stratosphere: Integrating Technology, Pedagogy, and Change Knowledge (2013), and Professional Capital: Transforming Teaching in Every School (with Andy Hargreaves) (2012).

Closing the Debate: Maureen McLaughlin is a senior advisor to the secretary of education and director of international affairs at the U.S. Department of Education. In this position, she has led and coordinated the Department's international activities and engagement since August 2010. She also spearheaded the development of its first international strategy, which is designed to simultaneously strengthen U.S. education and advance U.S. international priorities. The key objectives of the strategy are to increase the global competencies of U.S. students, learn from other countries to improve U.S. teaching and learning, and engage in active education diplomacy.
